By A. F. MAMAM

DETROIT (AP)—United Auto Workers Union members began striking General Motors Corp. plants at 10 a.m. today and indications were that the huge automotive company might be shut down by tonight.

The UAW represents some 325,000 GM hourly rated workers at 129 plants across the country.

As union workers started walking off their jobs company and union negotiators broke off national talks until 7 p.m. today.

The International Union of Electrical Workers and GM announced they were extending their contract deadline from 10 a.m. today until midnight Thursday. The IUE represents some 25,000 GM hourly rated workers.

As the strikes erupted, the UAW announced in a statement that a stalemate had developed in negotiations on noneconomic national-level issues.

A main snag, the union said, was its demand for more liberal relief time from machines and assembly lines to care for personal needs of the workers.

The UAW said "the question of adequate relief is a matter of dispute in a large number of plants, especially Fisher Body assembly plants and the Buick-Oldsmobile-Pontiac assembly plants."

The UAW said it was prepared to settle on a proposal made by management of the Oldsmobile main plant at Lansing, Mich., with a proviso that each worker should be relieved from his job for "not less than 24 minutes daily," with the added stipulation: "This provision shall not interfere with any mutually satisfactory local practice."

Leonard Woodcock, UAW vice president, said the union's relief

Fallout Likely to Reach Arkansas

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Arkansas may get some radioactive fallout from recent Russian nuclear test explosions today or tomorrow but Dr. J. T. Herron, state Health Officer, said there should be no danger. Herron said Sunday that daily checks indicate no increase in the radiation count at Little Rock.

Barriers, Guns Fail to Halt Escapes

By GEORGE SOULTWOOD

BERLIN (AP)—Despite the barriers and the Communist guns, East Germans are still escaping to West Berlin.

They use their wits, and daring. West Berlin authorities reported the escape thrillers of 18 East Germans who made it into this fabricated building blocks — the Iron Curtain over the weekend.

A young couple, towing their 18-month-old baby in a tiny bathtub, swam the Teltow Canal Sunday. Red Guards have shot dead at least two men trying to swim to the West there.

Three youths in a dump truck rammed through a wall of prefabricated building blocks—the first time the sturdiest of barriers erected by the Communists has been cracked open.

A family group of 12 actually slid to the safety. They went down a rope from the window of their second-floor apartment bordering the Western sector while East German police hammered with rifle bullets on their barricaded apartment door.

The three youths added insult to the Red guards' injured pride by stealing a dump truck the Communists were using to build up the walls separating East and West Berlin.

The truck rammed the barricade at 25 miles an hour, scattering building blocks for 30 feet. The mass escape down a rope was organized by the 58-year-old father, who assembled his 10 children, ostensibly, for a family reunion in his second-floor apartment.

The family threw mattresses into the adjacent West Berlin street, then closed down the rope one by one while a small crowd of West Berliners watched admiringly. The youngest of the children is 12 years old.

Shut-in East Berliners trying to speak or wave to relatives and friends on the other side of the border were attacked Sunday night by Communist police with water cannon, tear gas and clubs, West Berlin police said.

West Berliners threw rocks at the Communist police in protest. The Reds retaliated by spraying a small crowd with water hoses and then threw tear and smoke gas grenades as well as firecrackers.

Tank Explosion Injures Youth

PARAGOULD, Ark. (AP)—A 19-year-old youth was critically injured today when a high pressure water tank exploded.

Deputy Sheriff Sam Hunt said Johnny Carter of Lufkin, near Paragould, was on top of the tank inserting air into it when it gave way. Carter was slammed against the roof of the building.

The tank, about 12 feet tall and 4 feet in diameter, supplies water under pressure at Crowley's Ridge Academy near Paragould. Carter is an employee of the school.

Two other men in the room were not injured. They were Emmett Smith, president of the Church of Christ school, and Jesse Cable of Paragould.

Air is forced into the tank to put pressure behind the water so it will feed into the water lines.

Williams Farm Tour Sept. 20

Ralph Montgomery, chairman of the Agriculture Committee of the C of C, announces this week that his committee, in cooperation with the Hempstead County Children's Assn., the County Agents office and the U of A Experiment Station, is sponsoring a tour of the Lamar Williams farm at Fulton on Wednesday, Sept. 20 in the interest of the beef cattle industry of the county.

"Within the past year the C of C has given recognition to the manufacturing industry, the poultry industry, the egg industry and the hog program in the county and since Hempstead County is the leading county in the state in the number of beef cattle, it is the thinking of this committee that some recognition be given this important segment of our economy," said Mr. Montgomery.

A more detailed program for this tour will be announced later this week and local merchants are urged to make this date on their calendars and arrange to make the tour. Mr. Williams has one of the best farming operations in the county, with a large herd of beef cattle, pasture and hay crops, pecans, cotton and chickens.

6 Americans Among 83 to Die in Crash

By COLIN FROST

SHANNON, Ireland (AP)—Working knee-deep in mud, rescue workers today dug for more bodies in the wreckage of the chartered American plane that plunged into the Shannon estuary killing all 83 persons aboard.

The crash Sunday of the President Air Lines DC6B "Theodore Roosevelt" was the worst disaster ever to befall a U.S. commercial plane.

Soviet Union Triggers More Nuclear Blasts

By W. B. RAGSDALE JR.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet Union has triggered two new nuclear blasts — one packing a punch far greater than earlier shots in the current tests.

The Atomic Energy Commission said the first of Sunday's explosions in the atmosphere was "on the order of several megatons" — an explosive force equivalent to several million tons of TNT.

Although it was by far the largest fired since the Soviet Union resumed testing 11 days ago, the blast was a long way from the 100-megaton level which Soviet Premier Khrushchev has boasted the Soviets will reach.

The second nuclear device, fired later in the day on the same arctic island as the first, was reported to be "in the low to intermediate kiloton range."

The four devices tested before Sunday's double header ranged from about the 20,000-ton equivalent of the bomb the United States used at Hiroshima to something in the 150,000 to 200,000-ton class.

All Soviet nuclear blasts in this series have been fired in the atmosphere.

Because it was so much more powerful, the first of Sunday's blasts presumably produced much more radioactive debris than in previous explosions.

U.S. experts say there is no danger from fallout resulting from the four earlier tests, but continued atmospheric testing would increase the possibility of deadly radiation.

It was this danger that prompted President Kennedy and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan to join in a plea to Khrushchev to confine his testing to underground explosions, which are relatively safe from the contamination standpoint.

Khrushchev rejected the proposal last Saturday, calling it a propaganda maneuver.

A communique issued Sunday night on Khrushchev's Moscow talks with India's Prime Minister Nehru said the Soviet leader told the prime minister the Soviet Union was compelled to resume nuclear tests because of "the Western arms race. Tass did not mention Nehru's reaction."

The ABC said both of Sunday's blasts took place in the arctic region in the vicinity of Novaya Zemlya, an island which has been used previously for detonation of large Soviet nuclear devices.

"This is the third location used by the Soviets."

Sharp-eyed readers of Pravda learned Sunday for the first time of the resumption of tests.

Buried in a lengthy text of an interview last Tuesday with Cyrus L. Sulzberger of the New York Times, Khrushchev twice mentioned the new tests. He said, "Now that we have started tests we will continue the tests we have begun."

In a report released Sunday, a private research group said the United States must make the Soviet Union believe it is prepared to use nuclear weapons.

The group, the National Planning Association, said Soviet assessment "of probable U.S. reaction will be a major, and probably the decisive, factor" in Soviet actions in the Berlin crisis.

The Soviet Union announced a series of tests of "more powerful and improved" multistage carrier rockets in the central Pacific. The tests begin Wednesday and end Oct. 15.

Placement Law Okayed by Court

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Little Rock School Board has received federal court approval of its use of the Arkansas pupil placement laws in assigning 49 students to once white schools this fall.

U.S. District Judge Gordon E. Couss said Saturday approved the board's assignments and said they did not violate a desegregation speedup mandate issued by the 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

Couss said 24 of 84 Negroes applied for the seventh grade and 16 of 32 asking to enter the 10th grade were accepted at integrated schools. He called this "more than a token number."

Negro attorneys contended that all Negroes that applied for once-white schools should have been admitted.

Winds of 150 mph Of Hurricane Carla Hit Coast of 2 States

Giant Waves Smash Coast of Louisiana

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP)—Giant waves and high winds stirred up by brutal Hurricane Carla surged over Louisiana's deserted, marshy coast today.

Evacuations continued as rising waters spilled over protective levees and flooded coastal towns. More than 40,000 already had fled inland.

From the second-story of the Cameron, La., courthouse, Sheriff O. B. Carter reported eight-foot tides and 65-mile winds. Carter said the highest points in the town of 5,000 were covered by nearly three feet of water.

Residents of Cameron—remembering the 590 left dead by Hurricane Audrey in 1957—needed little prompting to evacuate. By Saturday only Carter and a few deputies remained in the town.

Some 225 miles eastward rising waters began flooding the small community of Lafitte, nearly encircled by bayous, lakes and canals.

Jalopies loaded with children began an exodus toward New Orleans as fishermen, trappers and oil company workers left their homes.

"It's not much use to sandbag," said a deputy sheriff. "Why brace the front door when the water comes in the open back door?"

Mrs. Ruthie Hicks of McCaskill, Dies

Tidal Floods Surge Into Coastal Points

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP)—Carla, termed the most intense hurricane aimed at the Texas coast this century, lashed Louisiana and Texas with 173-mile-an-hour winds and battering 11-foot tides today while the center still was miles at sea.

More than 400,000 persons fled the coast in Texas and Louisiana in one of history's major flights, the Red Cross said.

At 9 a.m. Carla roared in the Gulf of Mexico 65 miles due east of Corpus Christi. The 173-mile wind at Port Aransas, near Corpus Christi, was estimated by the Weather Bureau.

At that hour the 30-mile-wide eye was expected to strike land this afternoon between Aransas Pass and Matagorda Bay, 75 miles northeast.

Farm losses will be close to $100 million, said John White, Texas agriculture commissioner. Galveston, island city of 75,000 from which 15,000 fled, was completely isolated.

At Port Aransas, on low-lying Mustang Island just off the Texas coast, 55 persons remained, including a few citizens and a detachment of Coast Guardsmen, 15 feet off the ground in an elevated house.

They had no choice except to ride out the wind and tides. All communications to them were cut.

As far inland as Bay City, 20 miles from the coast Carla's slash ing wind ripped out power service and telephone communication.

At Port Lavaca, on Matagorda Bay, 9,200 of the city's 10,000 persons left for high ground and winds reached 70 m.p.h.

Shortly after daylight tides surged to 10.7 feet above normal at Port Aransas.

Sheet metal, poles, broken glass and trees flew through the air in Corpus Christi. National Guardsmen patrolled against looting.

Corpus Christi reported nearly five inches of rain since midnight and the deluge continued. Thousands of telephones went out of operation there.

Surging waves tossed a large shrimp boat atop a 15-foot sea wall. All of North Beach at Corpus Christi flooded. It is crowded with beach houses and motels.

The Weather Bureau office in Chicago, labeling Carla the most intense hurricane to strike the Texas coast this century, said perhaps it may be the worst in Texas history.

An official forecaster said Carla at one point indicated a potential for developing winds up to 200 m.p.h. But this no longer was the case.

Well in advance of the hurricane's main force, tides nearly 10 feet above normal flooded scores of cities and towns. Water rushed through multimillion-dollar industrial plants along 200 miles of the coast.

Towering waves and winds hitting up to 140 m.p.h. in gusts wrecked piers, beach houses and boats, and knocked out power and communications.

Four tornadoes spawned by squall lines ahead of Carla slashed through southern Louisiana during the night. At Kaplan, one of the twisters killed 4-week-old Nancy Ann Simon, injured 50 persons, and damaged or destroyed 50 homes.

The hurricane itself, however, struck at ghost towns and cities on a deserted shoreline.

As the hurricane drew nearer, winds estimated up to 90 m.p.h. Continued on Page Two Whipped blinding rain in almost horizontal sheets through Corpus Christi. Broken electric wires sputtered on the ground in places.

Battered pieces of metal, broken glass and sections of pipe littered Corpus Christi streets. Store windows were smashed in the business district. House trailers were overturned.

In water-logged Galveston, an island resort center, the wind hit up to 114 m.p.h. before dawn. Water stood two to three feet deep in the streets. Ten-foot tides dashed waves against the city's 17-foot seawall.

The Weather Bureau predicted wind up to 80 m.p.h. in Houston, 50 miles inland from Galveston. Countless industries were shut and traffic was at a standstill in the Houston ship channel. Continuing rains promised considerable flooding in Houston.

In one of the largest mass evacuations ever in this country, between 300,000 and 400,000 residents along the Texas and Louisiana coast fled northward to escape the approaching storm.

Highways were jammed by solid lines of automobiles. Coastal residents loaded their cars with clothing, food, and family pets and drove inland. They went to Beaumont, Houston, Bryan San-Antonio Austin Waco and scores of other points.

Finding refuge centers, motels and hotels filled, many went as far north as Dallas and as far west as Laredo on the Mexican border, to find shelter.

Galveston Island, where Chief of Police W. L. Burns estimated only 15,000 of the 73,000 residents remained, was completely cut off from the mainland. Many coastal roads on the mainland were blocked by water from the high tides.

Many smaller towns were deserted. At others only police officers remained to prevent looting. In Corpus Christi where an estimated 15,000 residents were evacuated from their homes, National Guardsmen guarded the area with loaded rifles.

time proposal was taken under study by the company and was intended to unlock negotiations, but that instead "they went the other way."

GM Vice President Louis G. Seaton repeatedly has insisted that it is company policy to provide each employee with five per cent relief time daily. Five per cent is equal to 24 minutes for an eight-hour shift.

Seaton repeatedly has described as "utter nonsense" any contention that GM workers are disadvantaged in time off the job to attend to personal needs.

A GM announcement shortly after the union's said the following relief proposal was presented the UAW at 5:30 a.m. today.

"Management will provide sufficient relief men on the production line to provide personal relief of 24 minutes for each employee per shift. This will not interfere with any mutually satisfactory local practice," it said.

Some 30 of the 129 plants had reported agreement on local level issues when the deadline arrived.

A new national wage package, estimated by the union to be worth 12.04 cents hourly in take-home pay, was wrapped up last Wednesday and brought about extension of the strike deadline to 10 a.m. today.

The UAW reminded its locals across the country Sunday they had authority to strike if they had no at-the-plant working agreements by 10 a.m. today.

GM Vice President Louis G. Seaton said this amounted to an open invitation for local-level walkouts. Wildcat strikes have plagued GM since Wednesday, despite agreement on the national wage package.

Aboard were 77 European passengers and six American crewmen.

As investigators sought to determine the cause of the crash, 39 bodies remained to be recovered from the wreckage.

The tailpiece of the plane loomed above the slimy, gray mudflats like a giant tombstone.

Lashed by rain, the people of Shannon toiled all day Sunday in a race against the incoming tides.

As the tide came in and again covered the remains of the airliner, floodlights cut across the mudbanks and illuminated the wreckage.

The big four-engine plane plunged into the Shannon's waters minutes after taking off for the Atlantic hop after a refueling of 200 members representing every GM local, to meet in Detroit Wednesday. The council was called in anticipation the three-package contract would be completed by then, and UAW President Walter P. Reuther said the council would have authority to bind local unions to any and all of the three packages.

Presumably, the council could overrule local objections to any at-the-plant offers by the company.

While GM and the UAW hammered away overnight Saturday and Sunday, Chrysler and Ford bargainers were in recess until 10 a.m. today.

Ford and Chrysler, which collaborated with GM in parallel economic offers Aug. 22, presumably would meet GM's three-part package. The union's strike deadline against these two is next Wednesday. All Big Three contracts, written in 1958, were to have expired Aug. 31.

Printing Firm Official Dies

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Augustus Winfield Parks, 83, former Democrat Printing & Lithographing Co. board chairman, died at a hospital here Sunday. Parks was a native of Fort Smith. He came to Little Rock in 1908 as a reporter for the Arkansas Democrat and later entered the publishing field. He joined Democrat Printing & Lithographing in 1938.

The passengers had been taken aboard at Duesseldorf, West Germany.

The DC6B set off about the same time another charter plane carrying U.S. Army personnel and their families was called to leave. This led to erroneous reports from Shannon Airport officials and a U.S. Air Force spokesman in London that the Americans were victims.

The ill-fated airliner carried Austrian and German farm families, including a baby on a trip organized by a crop spray firm for a three-week visit to the American Midwest corn belt.

People at the airport said they heard the plane take off and minutes later the engines cut out. There was an eerie silence and then a thud.

All those aboard, with one exception, apparently died immediately. A dark-haired girl of about 25 was thrown clear and was found alive but died later at the airport medical center.

Teacher of Prescott Loses Case

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Supreme Court held today that public school teachers are not state employees and are not entitled to workmen's compensation benefits under act 462 of 1949.

The ruling came in a suit filed by Mrs. Donald Muse against the Prescott School District.

Mrs. Muse's husband suffered a fatal heart attack March 29, 1960, while a coach at Prescott High School.

Mrs. Muse filed a claim for workmen's compensation benefits, but the school district got an order from Pulaski Circuit Court prohibiting the Workmen's Compensation Commission from considering the case.

The Supreme Court sustained the lower court.

The Supreme Court said it had held several times that teachers are employees of local school districts and not state employees.

Act 462 of 1949 provided benefits for state employees but not for employees of political subdivisions.

The Supreme Court affirmed a Benton County Chancery Court ruling that the Bank of Bentonville has no legal interest in $6,000 worth of turkeys bought by Swift & Co. from Dale Moore.

The bank contended it had a mortgage on the turkeys.

Dutch Ship Tells About New Storm

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Information radiocast by a storm-tossed Dutch ship said Hurricane Debbie is following Betsy up the Atlantic and probably poses no threat to the United States.

Debbie, born and nurtured in the secluded tropical storm spawning grounds off the west coast of Africa, had been plotted for about a week on the basis of usual storm trends and known pressure systems in the area.

The Netherlands freighter SS Kermia sent a report to the Weather Bureau at San Juan, P.R., Sunday night saying it had passed close to Debbie's center and estimated peak winds at 83 miles per hour.

Debbie's center was placed about 1,350 statute miles east-northeast of San Juan. Previously Debbie had been plotted on a westerly course more than 350 miles to the south.

Forecaster Gilbert Clark of the Miami hurricane center said the new information, coupled with pictures from weather satellite Tiros III leave virtually no chance in the world of Debbie reaching the states.

Clark said Debbie apparently was following a trough left by Betsy, which passed east of Bermuda and is now dying a chilling death in Atlantic waters.

Husband a Compulsive Fisherman

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: Fishing is making a travesty of our marriage. My husband fishes every Sunday his only day off. He is up at 4 a. m. gone till noon returns to gulp a mid-day meal I have spent all morning cooking and sleeps the afternoon through.

Our vacations are spent at my mother's with our two small children. I stay at home. He goes fishing.

Last Fourth of July was typical. He and another fellow were to fish till noon then all of us picnic together. Instead of spending the afternoon with us, he and his friends fished and shot guns till dark. The other fellow had just been married a month. His bride was as miffed as I.

Occasionally my husband invites me to come fishing, but won't pay for a baby sitter so I can't go. Outside of this fishing phobia, he is otherwise sane, has brains enough to hold down a successful job as assistant manager for a big department store chain.

Is this passion for fishing proof that he no longer loves me? He says it isn't. I say it is. He told me to ask you. —T. and L.

Dear T. and L.: At least there isn't another woman in the case! Get back your sense of values and go to work on the problem. Here is the way my mother handled it: On her honeymoon Father took her to the Wisconsin Lakes, parked her in a cabin and went fishing; then added insult to injury by remaining for the opening of the hunting season!

Yet he loved my mother deeply and she him. Instead of sitting on a rock crying her eyes out, she coaxed him to teach her to fish and hunt, hooked some sizable bass and learned to shoot well.

After that whenever Father went fishing or hunting, he took her along. Even I as a baby, couldn't hold her back. Depositing me with one of my two grandmothers she would go blithely off to the wilds with Father. Years later she confessed to me that she loathed it and only went because she loved Father and was determined that nothing should ever separate them.

Go with your husband, and if you have no one with whom to leave your children, take them along. Should he protest say, "This is it!"

Self discipline is its own great reward.

even keel. —M.

Dear M.: Bite your tongue when impassioned words come. See your "terrible Irish temper" for what it is—lack of restraint. Next time you feel the impulse to lash out, force yourself to count ten before speaking. Then, if still angry, leave the room.

Race Wreck Leaves 13 Dead in Italy

MONA Italy (AP)—A shocking new outcry arose today for a limit on ban on automobile racing after a tragic Sunday in which world famous Baron Wolfgang Von Trips and 12 spectators were killed and 25 injured.

Von Trips, a handsome German and leading contender for the 1961 world drivers' championships was smashed to death beneath his red Ferrari on the second lap of the Grand Prix of Italy race.

The veering car which rocketed through a guardrail at over 100 miles an hour and plowed into spectators jammed elbow to elbow.

Other racers continued to roar around the super-speed track for two hours past the crumpled dead, sprawled at the trackside and covered with newspapers. Ambulances rushed 25 other victims to hospital.

The toll was greater than the accident in 1957 which doomed the Mille Miglia, long Italy's great and often blood-stained open road race. In that accident, the Spanish Marquis de Portago's car plowed into a group of roadside spectators

The next time the National Football League teams go on the field it will be for keeps.

The 37-game exhibition schedule was completed over the weekend, with Detroit, Philadelphia, Green Bay, San Francisco Los Angeles Baltimore and Chicago winning their final tuneup games. And it may be sheer coincidence that six of these victors were in the Western Conference last season.

Only two teams escaped unscathed during the long pre-season schedule. The league champion Philadelphia Eagles and Green Bay the 1960 western division champions.

Green Bay won its fourth in a row Saturday night, exploding for 17 points in the third quarter to defeat the Washington Redskins 31-24. The Eagles romped over the St. Louis Cardinals the same night 27-0.

It was the Redskins' fifth straight loss, matching the pre-season record of the New Minnesota Vikings. The Minnesota entry was a victim of its own mistakes in dropping a 21-17 verdict to the Los Angeles Rams Sunday.

The most impressive individual showing in the final games was that of Johnny Unitas of Baltimore, who fired five touchdown passes as the Colts overwhelmed the New York Giants 49-20 Sunday at New Haven, Conn. Adding to the Giants' woes was the possibility their veteran quarterback, Charlie Connerly, may have suffered a fractured nose early in the game.

The Cleveland Browns, runner-up in the Eastern Conference last season, bowed to the Detroit Lions Saturday for the second time, 35-17. The Detroit defense held the Browns' running attack to zero net yards in the first half. The Lions beat the Browns a month ago 35-7.

Quarterback Sonny Jurgensen continued to shine for the champion Eagles as he passed for two touchdowns to veteran Tommy McDonald. The Eagles showed their usual rugged defense, containing the Cardinal ground game and bottling up passers Charlie Johnson and Sam Etcheberry.

Quarterback Bill Kilmer ran killing de Portago, his American co-driver and 10 other persons. In the outcry which followed, open road racing in Italy was banned and the Mille Miglia since has been whittled down to a speed-limit auto rally.

The same cries were being heard today against track racing. Newspapers throughout the country headlined it a slaughter.

The Monza race, and the world championship, was won by Phil Hill of Santa Monica, Calif., in a Ferrari like Von Trips'.

The American did not know anyone had been killed in the accident. After the race he stood beaming with joy as the American national anthem was played for his victory. Then he learned about the death.

He turned white with shock and collapsed on a bench. Companions led him away. He was too stunned to speak.

Stirling Moss of Britain long one of Von Trips' close rivals in racing, also was too stunned to speak when he learned the German was dead.

The steep-banked Monza track has been regarded as one of the safest in the world—and one of the fastest. In five major races over the past three years there had never been a fatality. But it was a jinx track for Von Trips. He had been hurt in races on it twice, in 1956 and 1958. He survived those wrecks.

Chapter IX

Stalcup went to the cabin and drank a can of beer while formulating his plan. Directly, like the bridge planks, the can of beer needed replacing, which was easy done.

By gosh, if those huge charred timbers leaning against the masonry of the old mill were as solid under the burned surface as the one he had cut up for fireplace wood, the problem of bridge stringers was solved.

Stalcup went back to the car for tools, and it was then that Finnegan arrived, dressed for fishing. Finnegan got out and looked at the river. "That doesn't look too good for flies yet." He went over and heaved on one end of a new plank. "Couldn't you get heavier ones?"

"I know what I'm doing." "Good. What is it?" "I'm going to save myself 2,000 round, fat bucks by proving how solid those mill timbers are. Here, take this hatchet."

They went toward the mill, pausing at the cabin to drink a can of beer, since it was a hot day. Afterward, they scrambled over tumbled masonry to reach the timbers. Finnegan sighted up one toward the sky. "That would reach clear across the creek by itself, if it wasn't burned so bad."

"It's fire-hardened, Indians used to fire-harden arrows to make them stronger." "Yeah, but did they cremate them?"

Stalcup struck a hard blow with the ax. Charcoal flew and so did the ax head and Stalcup looked with surprise at the splintered handle he was gripping. "Cheap tools. Give me that hatchet."

"I'll show you. Observe." Finnegan began to chop into the timber mashing away valiantly, until suddenly he cried out and dropped the hatchet.

"What's the matter?" "Charcoal in my eye."

"What a great outdoorsman you are. Come on over to the cabin I'll dig it out."

After the operation, which put a strain on them both, they calmed their nerves with two more beers. "How about the timber?" Finnegan asked.

and passed like a veteran as the San Francisco 49ers romped over the Dallas Cowboys Saturday night 24-7. The Cowboys were outplayed throughout.

The Chicago Bears eked out a 24-21 victory over the Pittsburgh Steelers Friday night to bring their pre-season record to 3-2. It was Pittsburgh's third loss in five starts.

Meteor Explosion Seen Over South

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The apparent explosion of a meteor was observed in the skies over much of the South Saturday night. Weather Bureau and Federal aviation Agency sources said the sudden burst of green light was seen the water. "Don't throw the cans in the river" Stalcup said. "I'll take 'em over to the trash barrel."

"Wait until they're empty first will you?"

"I'll tell you what I'll pick out several planks and we'll pry them up to see how the stringers look."

After finding a wrench that would serve they found a bottle of whiskey in the liquor cabinet.

In truth it might have been a splendid afternoon after the bridge had been examined but shortly afterward Stalcup spied his son walking because he could not get his car over the walnut-sized stones of the private roadway.

With an uneasy glance at the awesome pile of decking Mickey hurried on to cross the bridge skipping nimbly over the one plank that had been uprooted.

"Outside of starvation what brings you here?" Stalcup asked.

"Indians" Mickey mumbled.

"Indians?" Finnegan said. He and Stalcup looked at each other. "You mean—"

"Yeah! Your Utes. Nine of them."

"Where?" Stalcup asked.

"At our house waiting for you guys to do something with them. Pretty cool bunch too."

Mickey went inside after food. Mickey returned eating as he came. "I got the job Pop."

"Fine" Stalcup said. "What job?"

"Boy you two sure must have been hitting that jug. First you don't even remember the Indians you've been talking about for months and now you don't remember you told me to go see Miss Cowgill. You should see those guys with her!"

"Gups?" Stalcup said. "What gups?"

"Crunch!"

"Crunch" Stalcup said. "As soon as you eat everything look at the cabin. Come on Finnegan."

Being Host to TV Show a Hard Job

By CYNTHIA LOWRY AP TV-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "One of the hardest jobs in television," said Dick Powell, "is being the host on a show. What do you say for 45 seconds at the beginning of the show when you really haven't anything to say except please watch?"

Broadcasting — including radio — certainly did not invent the "host" or "master of ceremonies," but because of its requirements it certainly has brought it to the full, if not finest, flowering. There are today even categories of hosts.

One, of course, is the excessive, jolly, hyper-thyroid m.c. of the day-time audience participation show with his carefully prepared little ad libs. His principal requirements are an easy, ceaseless flow of patter, an ingratiating manner, a firm hand in steering the contestants through their paces and — very important — a sincere way with commercials.

The other major category is the "introducing host," whose primary function is to provide the one thread that ties a varied assortment of shows into a bundle.

Eminent practitioners of this specialty are Alfred Hitchcock, whose gagged-up backgrounds and mischievous manner lifted hostmanship into a comedy art form; Boris Karloff, whose on-camera personality is that of a tongue-in-cheek bogeyman; Powell, who prefaced his "Zane Grey Theatre" shows with thumbnail lectures on aspects of life in the Old West; and a newcomer, Richard Boone, who has been inviting the viewers to watch this summer's re-runs of "Playhouse 90" shows.

Producers of "Thriller," over which Karloff will preside again this year, turned the veteran British actor into a transatlantic commuter last season. He flew from his London home to Hollywood every eight weeks.

Karloff was busy the other day making a fall batch of introductions (13, to be exact) and was busily leering at the camera while inviting the public "to a feast of fear and trembling."

Mantle Slams No. 53, Yanks Win Twin Bill

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Mickey Mantle picked up his 53rd home run in his bid to break Babe Ruth's 1927 record of 60 Sunday while he and his New York Yankees teammates were whipping the Cleveland Indians 7-6 and 9-3.

The Yankees' Roger Maris, who has 56 homers, had to be content with two singles during the day.

Commissioner Ford Frick has ruled that a player must hit 61 home runs in 154 team decisions to officially break Ruth's record.

Maris and Mantle now have 10 games remaining in which to turn the trick.

Mantle's blast came in the second game of the doubleheader, punctuated by fist fights and arguments that both involved Cleveland center fielder Jimmy Piersall. The twin victories and Detroit's 8-7 loss to Boston, left the Yankees 11½ games ahead of the runner-up Tigers.

In other AL games Baltimore nipped Washington 3-2, the Los Angeles Angels edged Chicago's White Sox 4-3 and Kansas City and Minnesota divided a pair, the A's splurging 13-1 in the opener and bowing 7-0 in the nightcap.

Redlegs Hold 4 Game Lead Over Dodgers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Cincinnati Reds held a commanding four-game advantage over the Los Angeles Dodgers today in what had been a nip-and-tuck fight for the National League pennant.

Cincinnati gained the big advantage over the second-place Dodgers by sweeping three games from the St. Louis Cardinals over the weekend while Los Angeles was bowing three times to the San Francisco Giants.

During the Reds' first two tilts with the Cards, Cincinnati won extra-inning thrillers, the 30th and 31st one-run triumphs scored by the Reds.

The Reds' weekend mastery of St. Louis, coupled with San Francisco's three-game sweep over second-place Los Angeles, had the rest of the league mumbling "it's all over but the shouting."

For San Francisco, the weekend, topped off by Sunday's 7-1 victory, brought sweet revenge. Two years ago, the Giants appeared headed for the NL pennant. The Dodgers struck them down in the season's dying days and went on to win the title and the World Series.

Elsewhere in the NL, third-place Milwaukee kept its faint pennant hopes alive by edging the Pittsburgh Pirates 4-3 on Warren Spahn's pitching, and the Philadelphia Phillies exploded for 13 runs in two innings to conquer the Chicago Cubs 14-6.

In the American League, Mickey Mantle hit his 53rd home run, the most of his career, as the New York Yankees swept two from the Cleveland Indians 7-6 and 9-3; Boston outscored Detroit 8-7; Baltimore edged Washington 3-2; Los Angeles tripped the Chicago White Sox 4-3 and Kansas City and Minnesota split two games, the A's romping 13-1 and the Twins coming back 7-0.

Orlando Cepeda and Willie Mays furnished the power and Billy Loes and Stu Miller the pitching in the Giants' rout of the Dodgers. Cepeda got his 40th homer and Mays his 37th. Mays scored three times, the third the 1,000th run of his NL career. Loes and Miller held the Dodgers to three hits, with Miller the winner.

Spahn's decision over the Pirates was his 10th in succession and 19th of the fading campaign. He has lost 12. He clipped in with a home run, the 30th of his career, in the seventh, but it took Joe Adcock's two-out single in the ninth to decide it. Tom Sturdivant (5-2) was the loser.

The Phillies, behind 6-1 after six innings, erupted for seven runs in the seventh with Don Demeler smacking a bases-loaded homer. They added six more in the eighth to climax their wildest scoring spree in a long, long while.

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — The world's best field of amateur golfer ranging from teenager to 71-year-old Chick Evans Jr., teed off today in the 61st United States Amateur Championship.

Defending champion Deane Beman of Arlington, Va., drew young Harry Allers of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., in his opening match while Evans of Chicago, U.S. Amateur king in 1916 and 1920, drew Jim McCarthy of Joliet, former University of Illinois football player.

Jack Nicklaus, the 1959 champion and Ohio State star, was one of 56 in this field of 200 to draw byes in the opening 18-hole tests over the tricky Pebble Beach course bordering the Pacific Ocean.

After an exceptionally dry summer, the 6,747-yard course was playing fast with a par of 36-36-72. Changing winds present different problems to the golfers almost daily as eight of the holes border the ocean.

In addition to the survivors of qualifying tests that drew a record of 2,019 golfers throughout the United States, nine members of the British Walker Cup team are coming here.

Local favorites include Harvie Ward Jr., of San Francisco, winner of the national title in 1955 and 1956. Also back for a try at winning a third title was Charlie Coe of Oklahoma City, titlist in 1949 and 1958.

Foreign stars present today included Joe Carr, the Irishman who three times won the British championship, and Mike Bonalack, current champion, both with first round byes.

Should a Britisher win the title, he would be the first foreign-born U.S. champion in 29 years.

Alice Block Hood

Celebrating her 100th birthday Sept. 3 was Alice Block Hood shown above with her daughter, Mrs. Lee Cheatham of McNab. She was born in 1861, and is the only one living of nine children. Her parents, Henry and Emma L. Block were slaves and after the Civil war settled in Hempstead Co.

An invalid, Mrs. Hood has been in a wheel chair for several years but is able to sit up and read without glasses. She is proud that she has never received welfare nor old age assistance from county or state. She attributes her long life to the blessings of God and the special care she receives from her children. She passes this verse along:

"With leg to take me where I go,
With eyes to see the sunset glow,
With ears to hear what I would know,
With God, his blessing, to bestow,
Oh, God, forgive me when I whine,
I'm blessed indeed, the world is mine."

U.S. Tennis Play Seems Floundering

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — The victory by Roy Emerson in the National Championship served the victory by Roy Emerson in the National Championship served today to underscore the desperate straits in which United States tennis is floundering.

Emerson, who won the title with a 7-5, 6-3, 6-2 decision over his fellow Australian, Rod Laver, Sunday, hasn't even been able to scratch a putt a singles assignment on his country's Davis Cup team. He has been used strictly as a doubles player.

Darlene Hard did gain back a measure of America's deteriorating international reputation by winning the women's title for the second straight year. She beat Ann Haydon of Britain 6-3, 6-4, in just 47 minutes.

Emerson, for his part, said he hoped the title would give the Aussie moguls some cause to consider him as a singles player.

From the United States standpoint, the Aussie lineup for the challenge round is purely academic. For one thing, there is no assurance America will reach the challenge round. The chances are it won't get by Italy in the semifinal.

Chuck McKinley, the big U.S. hope, was knocked out early in the tournament, Dennis Ralston, daily as eight of the holes border the ocean.

In addition to the survivors of qualifying tests that drew a record of 2,019 golfers throughout the United States, nine members of the British Walker Cup team are coming here.

Local favorites include Harvie Ward Jr., of San Francisco, winner of the national title in 1955 and 1956. Also back for a try at winning a third title was Charlie Coe of Oklahoma City, titlist in 1949 and 1958.

Foreign stars present today included Joe Carr, the Irishman who three times won the British championship, and Mike Bonalack, current champion, both with first round byes.

Should a Britisher win the title, he would be the first foreign-born U.S. champion in 29 years.

What Porkers First Game Revealed

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Here is what the Arkansas Razorbacks showed in Saturday's first game - condition scrimmage of the fall football practice season:

—A triple threat man in Lance Alworth. He punted, scored twice on a 78-yard punt return and a 7-yard slant, and threw a touchdown pass that was called back.

—A good passing quarterback in George McKinney. He passed 21 yards to Paul Dudley for a touchdown and 23 yards to end Tim Langston. He also tossed Dudley a 50-yard gainer.

—Two good kickers in Mickey Cissell, who kicked two extra points, and Jim Grizzle, who booted two points and a 43 yard field goal.

—A strong junior fullback in Jim Worthington, who carried the ball 14 times and rammed one yard on each of four successive plays to get the second Red team touchdown.

—Two fine linebackers in Danny Brabham and Dean Garrett. They're trying to replace the gap left by the departure of Wayne Harris.

Coach rank Broyles was generally pleased with the Saturday show. He was chagrined that the first team was caught offside twice inside its own five yard line.

The Razorbacks work out only once today. Arkansas is host to the Southwest Conference pro tour, in which writers talk to coaches and players and watch the workout.

The first two units walloped the reserves 37-0 Saturday, but that was expected. What wasn't expected was an equally fine defensive show by the first unit. Broyles said it was one of the highlights.

While the Hogs were working, the first Associated Press nationwide poll was released. Arkansas is ranked 12th, third in the Southwest Conference, Texas is fourth ranked nationally and Rice is ranked 11th. Baylor is ranked 15th.

stralian titles in his hip pocket, is in a position to start dickerings with pro czar Jack Kramer.

Laver, who won at Wimbledon, has been negotiating with Kramer and is virtually certain to sign right after the challenge round.

This was the sixth straight year an Australian has won the nation's championship, and the fifth he's back next year. Emerson, with time in the last six years two both the United States and Australia had played for the title.
